Welcome to Versatile Link Fiber Optics, The World's Most Versatile, Cost-Effective Fiber Optic Components.

The Versatile Link is cost effective in design and manufacture. Link design is done by Hewlett-Packard and specifications are guaranteed. Several styles of components and connectors offer versatility to suit almost any application. The transmitter and receiver components are auto-insertable and wave solderable to simplify your manufacturing process. And most importantly, Hewlett Packard quality and dependability are part of every Versatile Link Fiber Optic Component.

This evaluation kit is your introduction to Versatile Line Fiber Optics. Included in the kit is a Versatile Link transmitter, receiver, connected cable, polishing tool, abrasive paper, bulkhead feedthrough, and data sheet. Additional connectors are also included for connecting practice.

The Versatile Link's performance and applications are described in the Versatile Link Data Sheet. Different levels of optoelectronic performance are possible with the transmitter/receiver combinations show on page 4. The transmitter and receiver included in this kit are discussed on pages 3 through 7. Connectors on cable can be changed by following the instructions on page 15. (Note: if the suggested tools are not available, comparable tools may be substituted.)

The order Versatile Link Fiber Optic Components, or should you have questions about the Versatile Link and its use, please contract your local Hewlett Packard electronics distributor or one of the Hewlett Packard Sales Offices listed on the reverse side.

Thank you,

The Hewlett-Packard Company
